The fourth edition of the Taiwan International Fisheries & Seafood Show (TIFSS 2018) and the third edition of Taiwan Agriculture Week (TAW 2018) kick off at the same time on Wednesday November 21 at the Kaohsiung Exhibition Center with a combined total of 330 exhibitors showcasing their latest offerings at 600 booths. The three-day shows to end on Friday, November 23 are expected to attract more than 12,000 buyers and professionals from home and abroad to visit. Both events features such highlights as "INNO Stage of Breakthroughs," "International Seminars," "One-on-One Procurement Meeting" and the inaugural "Youth of Taiwan's Aquaculture Area," demonstrating the diverse developments of Taiwan's agriculture and fishing industries as well as their recognition all over the world.

The fourth edition of the TIFSS, jointly organized by Taiwan External Trade Development Council (TAITRA) and My Exhibition Co., Ltd., features five specialized exhibition areas, including fishing equipment and technology, aquaculture, seafood processing, seafood and value-added products, plus marine biotechnology. In the "Leisure Fishing Gear" launched for the first time, exhibitors from Hunan, China also showcase their latest products for the first time. As Taiwan's sole international-class fisheries exhibition that pulls together exhibitors of the entire supply chain from 18 countries, including Indonesia, the Philippines, Japan, Spain and South Korea, TIFSS serves as a global platform for those in the industry to converge in the three-day blockbuster event to buy the products they want in an effective and efficient manner. Among major highlights of the event, the inaugural "Youth of Taiwan's Aquaculture Area" does not only usher in new-generation industrial upgrades but also injects new blood into TIFSS. "2018 Results presentation by new generation of aquaculture" will be held, with 10 award winners including Chen Chi-hung, a scientific breeder of groupers; Eric Chang, a shrimp catching master at Terminalia Garden; and Lee Sheng-hsing, abalone revolutionary breeder of small abalone. All these have demonstrated plural developments of Taiwan's fishery industry and innovative convergence of generational alternation. Also on display is the 2018 Taiwan Agriculture Week (TAW 2018) – the country's sole international exhibition for refine agriculture. Following the fruitful results of last year's exhibition, the event this year expands its scope to four major themes: "AGRITECH Agriculture Technology Expo," TFVE Food & Vegetable Show,""TFEX Flower Expo," and "TCCE Cold Chain Expo," showcasing value-added farm products and technologies, smart agriculture technologies, integration of renewable energy and agricultural facilities, and Taiwan export flower boutique, etc. "One-on-One Procurement" fairs, "Food Safety and New Agriculture International Forum" and other peripheral activities are also staged to attract local and foreign professionals to visit, creating an international BTOB commercial platform for Taiwan's refine agriculture – the first of its kind embodying the complete supply and demand chain from upstream, mid-stream to downstream farming industries.

With the Tropic of Cancer running through the middle of Taiwan, the country's climate belongs to tropical monsoon in the south and humid subtropical climate in the north, which allow diverse productions of crops, livestock and fowls, fish, as well as development of various agricultural and fishing technologies, from cultivation of talents and technologies to seedlings, modification of species, livestock vaccines, farm machines and various maritime culture technologies for fish, shrimps and shells. All these technologies have been recognized by the world and helped elevate Taiwan's status as a well-established partner for both buyers and agriculture cooperation with Asian and Pacific countries.

As both events are being held simultaneously at the south and north halls of the Kaohsiung Exhibition Center, the organizers have arranged for more than 550 meetings for buyers and sellers. They have also introduced an online APP to increase the interaction between buyers and exhibitors with the aim of creating numerous business opportunities for those in the industry.

The two events start from November 21 to November 23, 10 am to 6 pm (with the last day closing at 5 pm). Related firms are welcome to visit the shows for free after leaving their name cards at door. The third day of the shows are open to the public, but children aged below 12 are not allowed. For more information, please access their websites at www.taiwanfishery.com 及 www.taiwanagriweek.com.
